Ideas for Gender Mainstreaming in Projects

Research / results / data gathered should be gender desegregated

- This is needed to assess the impact of the project, both immediate and long-term

Free from stereotypes or any form of discrimination

- Refer to the NCPE's document 'Inclusive Advertising' https://ncpe.gov.mt/wp-content/uploads/2023/06/inclusive_advertising.pdf

Equally accessible to both male and female employees

- Consider employees who may be availing themselves of family-friendly measures such as telework or reduced hours
- One way of ensuring such good practices is by organising the training at different times, or by providing transport for accessibility purposes etc.

Gender Impact Assessment

- Refer to the NCPE'S document 'Step-by-Step Guide for Gender Impact Assessment' https://ncpe.gov.mt/wp-content/uploads/2023/06/gmip_step_by_step.pdf

DO'S

Do's and Don'ts

List the different activities of your project and stop to think how the relevant audiences can be affected positively through the project . That is, see what can add value to equal opportunities in Malta.

Meet/contact NGOs and equality bodies working in the field and explore your idea with them so that they can further assist you after you have carried out the above exercise.

Do's and Don'ts

DON'TS

By employing both genders in the project, or by stating that employees will be all female is NOT relevant for the scope of this exercise

By stating that you will be complying to what is binding by law, such as providing equal access to employment and training is NOT sufficient. This is what is expected already in our society and legal context.

When contacting the NCPE for assistance

Indicate which Fund

Points to keep in mind

- Provide background information on why the measures being taken with respect to equal opportunities are important
- Wherever possible, substantiate your replies with statistical evidence or qualitative knowledge
- NCPE is the contact point for the Applicant / Beneficiary and not for the Service Providers
- Refrain from involving NCPE in the measures taken without the necessary approvals, e.g. NCPE logo will be used, NCPE will provide training etc. If such actions are necessary to the project activities, the Applicant should ask for NCPE's approval
